

Standards of Accreditation (SOL)

The Virginia Department of Education awards school accreditation ratings based on the percentage of students who pass the Standards of Learning Assessments and other substitute tests. Ratings reflect performance on tests taken during the previous school year or may represent a three-year average. The results of tests administered in each subject area are combined to create overall passing percentages in language arts, mathematics, history/social science, and science.

Schools are awarded one of four accreditation ratings – Full Accreditation, Accredited with Warning, Accreditation Denied, or Conditional Accreditation. To receive full accreditation, schools must meet or exceed the following benchmarks in each content area:

	Grade 3	Grade 4-5	Grades 6-12
Language Arts	75%	75%	70%
Mathematics	70%	70%	70%
Science	50%	70%	70%
History	50%	70%	70%

Schools that do not meet the benchmarks for each content area receive an Accredited with Warning rating in the area where performance is below the target. These schools participate in an academic review process, create and implement school improvement plans, and are required to adopt research-based instructional programs to raise achievement in the warned content areas.

If a school fails to meet the accreditation benchmarks for four consecutive years, accreditation is denied and the school is subject to corrective actions.

Conditional Accreditation is awarded to new schools for one year prior to the school participating in the state assessments. A Graduation and Completion Index is also used in the calculation of accreditation. High schools are required to earn 85 points on the graduation and completion index, in addition to meeting the accreditation benchmarks in each content area, in order to be fully accredited. There is a five-year phase-in period, where schools may be rated Provisionally Accredited. This rating will be awarded if a high school achieves the minimum benchmarks for Standards of Learning tests scores but does not meet a minimum threshold for the graduation rate but meets prescribed benchmarks outlined in the regulations.
